The Society of Mayflower Descendants in the State of North Carolina

Governor's Remarks

Greetings to each of you, Mayflower Cousins!

We have a new flag! Thanks to Captain Laurel Siviglia who worked very hard and persistently to find the best company to redo our North Carolina Mayflower flag. Laurel has written about her experiences and all she has learned about flags, poles and pole toppers. The new flag will be on display at our annual meeting on November 4-5, 2022, at Etowah Valley Golf and Resort. The detail that she will explain will make you look at all flags in a new light.

We continue to see new applications and supplements coming in. Cheryl Vislay has a report in the newsletter and includes the latest on our Junior memberships.

Cheryl has also led several meetings of the 2024 GBOA planning committee. Members include Cheryl Vislay, Laurel Siviglia, Rebecca Oesterle and me. It will be held in the Asheville area in September 2024. This is also the 100th anniversary of the Society of Mayflower Descendants in North Carolina which started in Asheville. Keep this date in mind for our celebration and join us.

This year the Speedwell Colony got underway. The Reverend Doctor Becket Soule has organized this colony for members who want to be online for meetings and learn more about our ancestors and the Society. The Speedwell Colony met virtually each month for most of the winter. Becket took a break this summer and will begin again at the GBOA meeting in Minnesota.

We are saddened at the passing of Michael C. Keleher, former North Carolina Governor and Deputy Governor General as delegate to the General Board of Assistants (GBOA) with General Society. There is additional information on Michael in the newsletter.

I wish to thank Judy Hughes for her efforts as Governor of the Western Colony. She has had to resign as Western Colony Governor due to health issues. Judy has an extensive background in the Mayflower history with travels where our ancestors lived. She did a thorough job when planning a meeting. Thank you, Judy, for your time as Western Colony Governor. Anyone interested in this position?

A nominating committee is being planned for the 2023-2026 elections. Please contact me if you wish to run for any office in the Society of Mayflower Descendants in North Carolina.

Plans are well underway for our annual meeting in November. There is a registration form in this newsletter. Our guest speaker on Friday night will be G. Keith Parker, a local historian whose family has been in this area over two hundred years. He is an author of books and articles in history and analytical psychology both here and in Europe. He and his wife, Jonlyn, were missionaries in Europe over two decades. He and his daughter, Leslie Borhaug, have won awards for two local historical novels based in Transylvania County. Please plan to be there to hear his educational presentation.

As your Governor, I continue to ask anyone I meet if they have a Mayflower ancestor and wear my North Carolina pin frequently. Please do this too. We are a growing Society, and you also can be a part of our success.

Pilgrim Blessings,

Jill S. Chapman

Mayflower Society Attends DAR Conference

In April, several members of the Society of Mayflower Descendants attended the Daughters of the American Revolution conference in Durham, NC. We had a table for interested persons to come by and find out about our society. Special thanks to Captain Laurel Siviglia and her husband, Nick for helping at the table. Governor Chapman and Nick Siviglia were there most of the time and assisted with inquiries. Governor Chapman had her computer and looked up the Patriot to Passenger list on the Mayflower website to see if connections could be found. Several DAR ladies came by who had been to our table at the last DAR meeting two years ago and wanted to refresh their interest. Thanks also goes to Steve Pike, Rebecca Oesterle, Courtney Layne, Martha D'Alessandro and Larry Chapman for making this a successful event. We received donations of $315. Our NC Mayflower pins were given to those who donated. Receipts were given for the donations. We look forward to attending the conference next year.

Editor's Note: Do you have an ancestors' sketch you would like to share, interesting Mayflower history or news in your colony? Please feel free to share. Next issue is being planned for February 2023. Also, an emailed version is sent to all members with an email address. If you want to get the emailed version, please share your current email address. We plan in the future to discontinue the mailed copies.

Michael C. Keleher

This society has lost a special member in Michael C. Keleher. He was Governor for three years and more, as he was Acting Governor when the health of Governor John W. McDaniel would not allow him to continue. Michael did double duty. He also came up with the medallions as a special 400th anniversary remembrance. These medallions are .999 Pure Silver and are a real treasure. Proceeds from the sale of these medallions will benefit the SMDNC Annual Scholarship program. Michael was the DGG Deputy Governor General at the national level for a number of years.

To honor Michael, the SMDNC has made a donation to the Mayflower Society Garden Walkway project. A brick will be placed in the area where officers are honored at the Winslow House Garden in Plymouth. The brick with his name on it will be installed in September.

He is missed by the members of the Mayflower Society in North Carolina especially the members of the Western Colony.

A Donation Challenge

A member of the North Carolina Mayflower Society is making an anonymous donation to the Martha Ellen Ward Scholarship Fund. The member would like to challenge our members to also make donations to the fund and this individual will match the amount up to $1,000. This is a good chance to participate in giving and make a significant difference to the recipient of our scholarship. Our scholarship is for a student who is working on achieving their Master's degree in the field of history or related subjects. Now is a great time to assist a deserving student. You can make your check to SMDNC and mail to our Treasurer, Nancy Saul at 2401 Turrock Dr., Apex, NC 27539-8719. Please designate the check for the Scholarship Fund.

Colony News

Central Colony

The Central Colony enjoyed a coffee get together at Panera's in Raleigh on July 23rd. We had two new members, two members who want to be more active and several of us long timers! We enjoyed Panera coffee and chocolate chip cookies while getting to know each other. We shared membership and ancestor stories and talked about future gatherings. We're going to have another coffee get together, this time in Cary on Saturday, September 24th at 10:30 am. Please mark your calendars and join us!

Speedwell Colony Report

The regular February meeting (17 February) was hosted by Pilgrim Hall in Plymouth, and presented by Donna Curtin, the Director. This live presentation included a close up look at the Warren napkin, the Brewster Book, and a short-recorded presentation representing young women discussing the Mayflower voyage.

The regular March meeting (17 March) gave a high-level overview of the foundation of the Society of Mayflower Descendants in the State of North Carolina, from the original articles in the Asheville newspaper to the present. This also was a lead in to the visit to the North Carolina State Archives.

The regular April meeting (21 April) picked up from a discussion at the March meeting, and gave the story of the Mayflower Cup, given from 1932 through 2002 by the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association to an outstanding North Carolina author.

The regular May meeting was a brief introduction to research on Mayflower Loyalists, or those loyal to the Crown at the time of the American Revolution. We looked at who they were, what motivated them, and what they suffered at the end of the War. This was the last meeting for the Spring; we decided not to meet over the Summer.

Field Trip:

Just because we are virtual doesn't mean that we can't do things in person! Several of our Speedwell members visited the North Carolina State Archives on Monday, 28 March. We were met at the door by the State Archivist, Sarah Koonts, who took us down to the vault for a thrilling close up look at the 1663 charter (with a very lifelike picture of Charles II leering out of the frame), a thank you letter from George Washington to the State of North Carolina (thanking the state for ratifying the Constitution, although it did take them over four years to do so), and a description of the travels of the North Carolina copy of the Bill of Rights.

We then went upstairs to the research room, where Doug Brown had pulled all of the sixteen boxes of records, containing everything from the original charter, to napkins from various banquets, to the minutes of countless meetings, and some other Mayflower memorabilia.

We got a good look at the Mayflower Cup in the third-floor display case, and concluded our visit with a tour of the State Library of North Carolina - even getting a view of the stacks!

And those who did not have a state library card were ready to pick one up and get to work. Special thanks to the staff at the State Archives, and to the State Library of North Carolina, for showing us so much that is usually not available to visitors.

Fall 2022:

Thursday, 8 September 2022 [7:00 PM] Special Meeting: Live from the General Board of Assistants in Minneapolis!

Regular Meetings:

- ❖ Pilgrim Medicine: Health and care in colonial New England
- ❖ Genealogical Research: Erin Schoepner, the Director of Research and Genealogical Services of the GSMD in Plymouth will talk about her work and trends in applications.
- ❖ Our annual review of Mayflower books
- ❖ 50 Mayflower websites in 50 minutes
- ❖ "What I did on my summer vacation." Where do we go from here? Ideas for service and projects.

Meetings take place by Zoom on the Third Thursday of each month, except for November (when the AGM takes its place). Meetings are recorded (when the Governor remembers to push the record button), and are available for viewing afterwards. All members of the Society of Mayflower Descendants are eligible for membership, whether or not they are members of the NC society, or of another chapter. Dues are $10 a year, and application forms are on the website, or can be obtained from the Governor at SMDNC.Speedwell@gmail.com

New Flag Project - By Captain Laurel Siviglia

Greetings to all the Mayflower Society Descendants in North Carolina.

Last September, at the GBOA in Plymouth, Meg Averett showed me the flag of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants. Meg mentioned that our 100th Anniversary is in 2024 and wouldn't it be nice to have a new flag as part of our celebration. As the Captain of the North Carolina Mayflower Society, that job fell to me. A Flag Project Committee was formed and a budget of $2500.00 dollars was approved. The members of the Flag Project Committee are, Governor Jill Chapman, Corresponding Secretary W. Becket Soule, former Governor Steve Pike and Martha Ward. Nancy Saul, in her capacity as our Treasurer, dispensed the funds to the previously approved Flag Center in Memphis Tennessee.

I would like to thank all the members of the Flag Project Committee for their time, support, knowledge of flags and kind and helpful suggestions. I would also like to thank Melanie Calvert, at the Flag Center, for her expertise, patience and professionalism.

Melanie and I had many conversations about the flag design, embroidery, color, size, content and printing of the center emblem of the flag. With Melanie's input and approval of the Flag Committee, we decided on flag size, design, a new pole and stand, and a campaign banner. Our new North Carolina Flag is a four by six-foot embroidered flag with 54 flowers encircling the Mayflower. Each flower represents the current number of Mayflower Societies. The center emblem is also larger, so it can easily be read. We also have a new four by six-foot fringed American Flag, pole and stand. This type of flag is known as a presentation flag. Flags used in a parade are not fringed. Each of our new flags also has new tassels and a new flag topper. The American Flag has an eagle and the Mayflower Flag has a spade pole topper. The campaign banner is gold with red embroidery. It commemorates our 100th Anniversary. The banner is attached to the top of our new North Carolina Mayflower Flag. Each flag also has its own waterproof labeled storage bag and flag spreader. The flags are attached to the flag poles by a pole sleeve. The final cost of all the above-mentioned items was $2,332.46. That is $ 167.54 under budget.

When I started researching the production of a new North Carolina Mayflower Flag, I knew next to nothing about flags. I was unaware of the GSMD by-laws concerning Mayflower Society flags. I was unfamiliar with several aspects of flag etiquette concerning the American Flag. Due to Covid, several of the companies that had previously produced high quality custom flags were not in operation or were not able to meet our needs at a reasonable price. Thankfully, with research, perseverance and support of the Flag Committee, we now have our flags in time for the 100th anniversary of the North Carolina Mayflower Society.

Respectfully submitted,

Laurel S. Siviglia, Captain

Climbing the Family Tree by W. Becket Soule

Every member of the Society of Mayflower Descendants has a story about how they discovered their ancestor, or how they pursued their lineage, or how they overcame the intractability of some documentary problem (or some bureaucrat, clerk, or registrar), so that each and every application is in some sense a success story.

While many people assume that my own story is a short one, because there is a direct male line from George Soule (who married Mary Becket) to Becket Soule, that is not really the case. My father tried for a full forty years to prove his lineage, sifting through the evidence in deepest, darkest Dutchess County, New York (where documents go when they don't want to be found). The glitch in the direct Soule line is that Seneca Soule (named, oddly enough, for the Roman orator and poet, and not for the Iroquois Indian nation) had twin boys by his, erm, uh, "housekeeper," and the "standard" genealogical write-ups say that it was a "common law marriage," when it was clearly and absolutely nothing of the sort. My father spent uncounted hours poring over books and bibles and tromping through cemeteries. All to no avail; he said, more than once, "You will never be able to join the Mayflower Society because we simply can't document the line." Gideon Ridlon, in his A contribution to the history, biography and genealogy of the families named Sole, Solly, Soule, Sowle, Soulis (1926, and filled with more errors than an early Mets game: he has my great-grandfather Millard Soule listed as "Mildred"), states that "Seneca Soule, Esq., the reputed son of Ebenezer and Martha (Thomas) Soule, born Jan. 29, 1760, in Dover, Dutchess, N. Y., was a man of education and a professional lawyer, who had a respectable clientage and acquired a comfortable estate. ... For several years Seneca Soule employed a somewhat venerable woman as housekeeper, and local tradition called her the mother of his children." Elizabeth Belden (for it is she) was nineteen years old when the twin boys, Seneca Soule, Jr., and Henry ("Harry") Soule, were born, and I don't know of any culture or era in which that age is considered "venerable."

When my father died in 2003, I picked up the challenge. One thing that quickly became clear was that my father concentrated only on Soule families, and did not pursue collateral lines and female lines with sufficient thoroughness. After a couple of years, I discovered an easily documented connection between my paternal grandmother and William Bradford, which could be demonstrated to the satisfaction of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants, and thus the "pressure" (which was 99% self-inflicted) was lessened after the first application was approved. This also opened the way to membership in the Society of Colonial Wars.

That same paternal grandmother had known of her relationship (second cousin) to a well-known man whose name we were forbidden to pronounce in her presence -- he was President of the United States between Herbert Hoover and Harry Truman, and was vilified by her alternately as a "Traitor to his class" and as the "Antichrist." But it was through that connection that we had always known of our descent from Philip Delano; a little further digging unearthed a descent from John Howland, which connected, unexpectedly, with the grandson of Seneca Soule. Once the Howland line was approved as a supplementary application, it was (comparatively) easy to fill in the blanks between Seneca Soule and his grandson Edgar Benson Soule, who married a descendant of John Howland and Philip Delano; this also showed that my paternal grandparents were fourth cousins. This same connection also linked us (as well as through two other lines we later discovered) as fourth cousins to Olive Evangeline Freeman, the second wife of John G. Diefenbaker (PM 1957-1963).

Thus, the direct Soule line, which had been rejected by GSMD dozens of times in the previous forty years was finally approved, opening a veritable floodgate of applications from formerly frustrated relatives. These same lines, thanks to the advent of the Silver Supplemental, also enabled easy approval of lineages to Isaac Allerton, John Alden, and Richard Warren. The last named connection we had known about for some time, as my first name, and my father's, is Warren. I have recently completed, and had approved, a supplementary application for Samuel Fuller, the son of Edward Fuller (both father and son were Mayflower passengers): the reason why I chose Samuel (rather than his father Edward) was simply that this would be one generation closer, and thus involve marginally less paperwork.

There are four other lines, which I am trying to document and hope to submit at the rate of one a year: Peter Brown, Edward Doty, Francis Eaton, and Samuel Fuller (the brother, rather than the son, of Edward Fuller). I think I will call a halt there, although there would be eight other passengers that could be added through Silver Supplementals since they are spouses, parents, or children of already approved passengers (Mary [Norris] Allerton, Mary Allerton, Edward Fuller, Priscilla Mullins, William Mullins, John Tilley, Elizabeth Tilley, and Joan [Hurst] Tilley).

This search has resulted in four incalculable benefits:

1. Despite parental assurances to the contrary, I not only joined the General Society of Mayflower Descendants, but have been thrilled, blessed, and humbled to become active and to meet so many people who have enriched my life in so many ways. While I know that many people's goal is to get the certificate (one and done), the continuing connections and relationships have been every bit as fulfilling as getting the initial certificate, as personally satisfying as that was. I am so glad that I didn't stop there.
2. Being an academic and a scholar by nature and profession, my library has grown by leaps and bounds. When a picture of one of my bookshelves, along with some of the certificates, was circulated several weeks ago, several people complimented me on how organised I was. I had to admit that it was merely the clever camera angle that made it appear so. I was flattered and honoured to be asked to take on the job of finishing off the Soule Silver Book, and it is a great joy to simply walk over to the shelf to get the Duxbury vital records, rather than have to do all of the tedious mucking about on the internet. Having a book in one's hands beats having a link, every time.
3. There is a great, if intangible, sense of closeness to history that comes from knowing that even one of my grandparents was on the Mayflower, was governor of the Colony of New Plymouth, and that numerous cousins were famous (or infamous) political figures, military leaders, explorers, writers, artists, scientists, and more. A copy of a painting by Frederick Judd Waugh hangs over the fireplace, but its beauty is enhanced by knowing that the painter was my uncle. It is only partially a joke that it does make a difference when I hear "Good Vibrations" to know I am (rather distantly) related to the Beach Boys. There is also a sense of flabbergasted astonishment at the role of contingency in history. In the hauntingly eloquent words of Rick Burns' film The Pilgrims, "John Howland's survival was as fortuitous and random as his near fatal plunge. In the New World he would thrive, work off his indenture, become a cornerstone of the colony, and marry a pretty young woman named Elizabeth Tilley ... from whom over the next four centuries an estimated two million Americans would descend, including Ralph Waldo Emerson, Joseph Smith, Franklin Roosevelt, Humphrey Bogart, Chevy Chase, and both George Bushes, father and son," William Jennings Bryan, both of President Theodore Roosevelt's wives, Henry Cabot Lodge, Cecil B. DeMille, Dr. Benjamin Spock, Ted Danson, Christopher Lloyd, John Lithgow, the Baldwin brothers, Samuel J. Ervin (the US Senator [Jr.] and the NC judges [III and IV]) ... and myself.
4. Having seen how hard my father worked, for years, on this project, it is satisfying beyond words to know not only how proud he would be that I have demonstrated what he always felt was true, but how proud I am to be able to continue in his footsteps. This one's for you, dad.
